

IAM Certificate Course Finder

Which AMA Certificate Course is right for you?

The AMA is committed to delivering training that meets your needs. Use the self-assessment questionnaire below to help guide your decision on whether you need our IAM Diploma, Full Certificate or Focused Certificate Course. Firstly, tick your experience in each of the five Certificate modules in the table below. Secondly, add up the total number of ticks and turn the page to find out what to do.

				Do you have relevant work experience in this area?	Do you use (or have you used) knowledge of this area in your career?	Have you had previous training in this area?
C1	Introduction to Asset Management	C1.1	Asset management strategies, policies and plans
		C1.2	Investment issues, whole-life costing
		C1.3	Operation, maintenance, repair and disposal of assets
		C1.4	Risk Management
		C1.5	Information needs and systems
C2	Asset Related Risk	C2.1	Assessment and management of risk
		C2.2	Contingency planning
		C2.3	Asset management review
C3	The Asset Management lifecycle	C3.1	Creation and acquisition of assets
		C3.2	Creation and acquisition of assets (Outsourcing)
		C3.3	Maintenance of assets
		C3.4	Renewal and disposal of assets
C4	Asset Information	C4.1	Asset information requirements
		C4.2	Specification and use of asset info systems
		C4.3	Using asset management information
C5	Financial and business impact	C5.1	Strategic requirements
		C5.2	Investment decision-making
		C5.3	Asset management planning
		C5.4	Creation and acquisition of assets: the business case
Totals
Overall Total

IAM Certificate Course Finder

Which AMA Certificate Course is right for you?

If you:

- Scored 15 and hold an IAM Certificate you should consider the IAM Diploma course
- Scored 12 or more, then you should consider the Focused IAM Certificate Course.
- Scored less than 12 then you should do the Full IAM Certificate Course.

Other considerations you might like to take into account include how quickly you wish to take the Certificate exam and how much flexibility you might want in training delivery.

The IAM Certificate is not a pre-requisite for the IAM Diploma, however we require our delegates to have Certificate level knowledge prior to attending our Diploma course.